Fractions Websites – Activity is due Friday, March 20, 2009

Below are many websites to explore fractions. Please check out these sites. Each student will be assigned a website. Each student will use the assigned website for 15-20 minutes. On Friday, each student will share what they did on the website, and tell how the website was useful when using fractions. Students need to be ready to answer any questions teacher/students may have about the website. Please answer the questions below by Friday.
