

Bibliography

Book with 1 author

Simon, Paul. The greenhouse. New York: Duncan Publishing, 1997.

Book with 2 authors

Simon, Paul and John Harris. The effects of pollution on our planet. New York: Duncan Publishing, 1998.

Book with more than 2 authors

Simon, Paul and et.al. Pollution in the cities. New York: Duncan Publishing, 1999.

Book with an association as an author

American Allergy Association. Allergies in children. New York: Rochester Inc., 2001.

Book or collection with an editor

Clark, Philip, ed. The changing ozone. New York: Mullen Publishing, 2000.

Periodical (magazine or newspaper)

Harris, John. "The pollutants that are robbing us of life." Science Weekly. 19 May 2001.

If this article was found online, you would add the http: address after the date.

Article from an encyclopedia

Edwards, Neil. "Toxin." Encyclopedia Britannica. 2002. (Vol., page)

No author

"Toxin." Encyclopedia Britannica. 2002. (Vol., page)

CD-Rom

"Toxin." Encarta. CD-ROM. Microsoft: 1999.

Web site

Smith, David. Toxins in the world around us. 2001. <http://address>

Interview

Doe, John. Personal Interview. 20 Dec. 2001.

E-mail to you

Doe, John. "Re: Toxins." Email to the author.

Government Publication or Pamphlet

United States Dept. of Health and Human Resources. Improving Health. Washington: 2000.

Note:

When typing up your bibliography, list the entries in alphabetical order.